HAND IN HAND.

Cleveland and Hendricks United for the Country's Weal.

Written for THE HERALD.]

Calumniation generally arises from some discontented brain and for express purposes. In this great country, wherein is permitted freedom of speech, articles most libelous are written concerning those whom the people have entrusted to represent their interests and aid by their wisdom the management of the ship of state and national affairs. When a candidate is announced, then the most scurrilous attacks are made upon his personal and private character. The news-monger or tale vendor does not hesitate to debauch the privacy of his home and resort to all known means of slander. We do not advocate such. We take a man in public life; we carefully review his course and then determine either our ability or inability to support him for any office of public trust. If he has proven faithful in minor positions; if he has the native capacity to grapple higher ones so as to redound to the credit of his constituency and reflect honor upon himself; then we become his ardent supporter; but on the other hand, if he has subverted the trust reposed in him, and made his high position a screen for obtaining wealth, then we are loud in our denunciations. When the testimony of the people at the polls on November 4th was given, we trusted the campaign, most noted as one pre-eminently given to defamation of character, had ended; but to our chagrin many a villain remaining with their little hatchets raised ever ready to besmear it, and their last crowning effort is that President-elect Cleveland and Vice-President-elect Hendricks have quarreled, and have commenced attacking each other most scandalously. Is not the season for such ended? It seems not, and instead of making con-verses, the originator of this slander will avail for himself or his party nothing, and strengthen Democracy's belief in their champions. To argue or write that Mr. Hendricks would make foul or desecrate remarks would be received by the country as emanating from some mad brain, or from one who has failed to receive official cognizance.

In the great struggle of 1876 Mr. Hendricks proved himself a gentleman in every sense of the word. He bowed in submission to the decree of the electoral commission, when he knew he could have thrown the nation into a most embittered strife. His conduct during that critical period was such that encomiums were heaped upon the venerable state-man by Europeans and Americans alike. So now to represent that pure and patriotic hero as a slanderer, is most preposterous; nay, too absurd to be entertained by any sane man. His speeches during the heated campaign just over were restricted to party doings and were far from censuring any particular personage. Why, at one time, prior to the election, when it was then rumored that he was dissatisfied with Mr. Cleveland on the ticket, he remarked that he had met Mr. Cleveland and was thoroughly impressed with him, that he was most original and sincere and on the whole, he thought Democracy did wisely in their selection. Too true; the good, the pure, the patriotic are the objects of vile attacks, but it will avail nothing only strengthen the bonds of our party and make us more formidable in the future. The visit of Mr. Hendricks to Albany was only of a social nature. Politics never entered into their conversation, yet, says one, they disagreed as to the Cabinet. That can be quashed most terribly when we remind them of Mr. Cleveland's remark in this particular, and we believe at a time when he was approached on this subject. He said that at present he was Governor of New York, not President of the United States, and when he resigned that position, he would consider as to whom he will call to a place in his cabinet, and in further extenuation of the matter said that he had not given the Cabinet matter a thought, nor would not as long as he was Governor.
Now is the time to shut up. If a man be dead, he cannot be alive. Politically dead is Republicanism, so they who still cling around the old flag-pole of forlorn hopes, and better lay aside their petty feelings, and seek pastures green and more inviting than the sterile plains upon which they now live. Living in glass houses, as they do, it is high time they had ceased casting stones. By their howling, they injure, deprave themselves; none others.

Good citizens, be they Democrats, Greenbacks, Republicans or what not, fully understand that Cleveland and Hendricks were united on the ticket for the country's weal, and have every assurance that all legislation enacted and sanctioned by them will be sufficient evidence of their good will, one for the other, and that they will go hand in hand, doing everything not for self-aggrandizement but for the welfare of the United States of America.

BEFORE JUDGE ZANE.

Proceedings in the Third District Court on Wednesday.

Judge Zane had a busy day yesterday, the following business having been transacted:

Douglas vs. Clayton, spoken of elsewhere.

Stevens et al. vs. Waddell, et al., the particulars of which are also given in another column.

The People vs. John Banks, indicted for burglary; Banks appeared in court and withdrew his plea of not guilty; he was thereupon sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the Utah Penitentiary.

Mary Strimling vs. Robert Dunsie; said dismissed for want of prosecution.

In the two cases of Edwin Kimball vs. the Empire Mining Company, suit was dismissed.

In the three cases of the Empire Mining Company vs. Edwin Kimball et al., judgment was rendered for plaintiff.

In the case of Libbie E. Carpenter vs.
Wm. E. Carpenter, on motion of C. E.
Pearson, attorney for plaintiff, the case was referred to S. J. Jonasson to take testimony and report to the Court.

S. C. Panckake vs. A. D. Bevan; judgment was rendered for plaintiff by default.

James N. Kimball, of Ogden, attorney for Collins & Stevens, appeared before the Court and made an extended argument upon his motion for a new trial in the case of McBride vs. Collins & Stevens, recently won by the plaintiff.

IN AID OF THE POOR.

To-day's Meeting at the Court Rooms.

At an informal meeting of several ministers of different Christian congregations of the city, held yesterday morning, to consider the matter of the distribution of the charity entrusted to them by the Messrs. Walker Brothers, and by Receiver Bancroft and the Messrs. Remington & Johnson, it was agreed that some central bureau of information was needed in order to guard the donors and distributors of charity from imposition, as well as to make more sure and efficient the relief of the deserving poor.

The undersigned was, therefore, instructed to call a meeting in the name of the ministers assembled and invite to be present representatives of all religious bodies of the city, of whatever name or belief, and of all charitable associations, for the purpose of organizing some such bureau.

Notice is hereby given, that such meeting will be held to-day, Thursday, at 9 a. m., at the Judge's chambers, in the Wasatch building, and invitation is extended to all religious bodies and to all societies engaged in the distribution of charity to be represented.

N. F. PETERMAN.

In behalf of the ministers assembled.

urinary Diseases, Syphilitic or Mercurial, Afections of the Throat, Skin or Bone, NERVOUS DEBILITY, Impotency and Loss Manhood, exhausted Vitality, Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhoea, Paralysis, and all the terrible effects of Self-Abuse, youthful folly and excesses in mature years.
Nocturnal Emission, the effects of which are various, maddening and destructive to both body and mind, and unless cured will terminate fatally. The presence of the disease causes a continual consciousness of a slow and gradual decay of all the power of body and mind with loss of manly power and vigor, defective memory, brain affections, loss of sight, noises in the head and ears, confusion of ideas, aversion to society, excessive prostration, trembling of the hands and limbs, consumption, marasmus and ultimate derangement of the mind. The will power becomes so weak that the person seems to lose control of himself and cannot look one square in the face. It also causes Dyspepsia,
